

ADVANCED LL.M in PUBLIC INTERNATIONAL LAW

Academic year: 2015-2016
Credits: 60
Code: DINT6/C018
President: Prof. François DUBUISSON

I. COMPOSITION OF THE PROGRAM

The Advanced LL.M has three components:

- A. Compulsory courses (20 credits = 4 courses x 5 credits)
- B. Optional courses (25 credits = 5 courses x 5 credits)
- C. Dissertation (15 credits)

A) Compulsory courses (20 credits = 4 courses x 5 credits)

Through the compulsory courses, students study in depth questions of public international law and familiarise themselves with the methodological and theoretical principles of international law as well as with argumentation techniques, mainly through the participation at moot court competitions.

Details on the compulsory courses are listed in the table below:

B) Optional courses (25 credits = 5 courses x 5 credits)

Students may choose five courses among the ones listed below.

Two areas of specialisation are proposed in the Advanced LL.M: “Security and Conflicts” and “Human Rights”. Students have the possibility to specialise in one of these areas by choosing the necessary number of optional courses from the relevant lists of optional courses (see tables 1 and 2 below). Students who do not wish to follow an area of specialisation, may choose their optional courses among any of the courses offered in the program (including the courses listed in table 3).

Moreover, students may be authorised to choose an optional course among the courses relevant to public international law which are available in the ULB Law Faculty, or in the program of the Vrije Universiteit Brussel (VUB) and Kent University.
